Team Member Personality Types That Kill Your Meetings

1

Barry Been Burned

We've been there, done that and it doesn't work. He's jaded, lost hope and is closed to new possibilities.

3

Negative Ned

Proud of his cleverness in seeing the problems. He's constantly seeing what's wrong or why things won't work. It's his mission to share the truth.

5

Time Keeper Tim

He's more interested in the time and the rules than the solution. He can't see outside of the box.

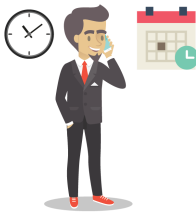

7

Ingrid I Know Better

Always knows the right thing. She's overly confident and sees herself as honestly better and smarter than everyone else.

9

Busy Bill

"Sorry, no time for meetings." He's always too busy and under pressure. He's constantly doing more urgent, crucial things.

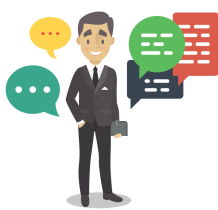

2

Late Larry

He was probably born 10 minutes late! He's always a few minutes late for a good reason. You can't depend on him to start or stop on time.

4

Ralph The Rambler

Takes 10 sentences to say one thought. He goes on tangents, tries others patience and has lots of unnecessary dialogue.

6

Not Accountable Nate

Somehow you're never able to pin him down for what he actually did or is going to do. He always has an excuse or obfuscation.

8

William Won't Shut Up

He must voice his opinion all the time. He loves to hear himself talk!

10

Important Ivan

Has no need for meetings. He's too senior. He always has to do more important things. Don't waste his time with collaboration.
